KFC Information

KFC resumes Sunday, September 12.

Story tellers had a great work session Wednesday night in preparation for the upcoming KFC season.

Parenting Tip

As parents, we think that we have to say all the right things in order for our children to learn right from wrong. So we chase after them as they run away from us with our well formulated lectures and witty sayings.

Instead, we should spend more time cultivating the type of relationship where they want to follow us, seek out our wisdom and turn to us for guidance. That is no easy task. It requires us to sit with our own anxiety as they make mistakes, and it demands that we calmly love and discipline them through the times that they just frankly aren't very lovable. But if we can do those things and hold on to our words until the moment is right, we just might be surprised at how good their hearing might really be.
